

Local Action, Global Impact: Councils and the Environment

Councillor Paul Bettison

Leader, Bracknell Forest Borough Council

Chairman, LGA Environment Board

Conservative Councillors' Association

23 February 2007

“in the battle against climate change, here in Britain, local government is in the front line.

That’s because there is a direct connection between the choices we make in our daily lives, at local level, and the future of the planet.”

- David Cameron, LGA Conference, 6 July 2006

Preview

- Councils and the Environment
- What LGA has been doing
- Challenges

From the Worthy to the Scary: Councils and the Environment

- (non) environmental services
- Clean and green
- Global challenge

What LGA is doing

- CSR
- Greening Communities and Reputations Campaign
- Environmental Advisory Service
- Planning and Housing
- Climate Change

Challenges

- Waste
- Development
- Climate Change

Points of Discussion

- Are we up for the challenges?
- What should LGA be doing to increase our chances of success?

Thank you

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Paul". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, sweeping initial "P". Below the name, there is a long horizontal line that ends in a small dot.

Councillor Paul Bettison
paul.bettison@bracknell-forest.gov.uk

Conservative
Councillors' Association