Seminar Objectives

About the Seminar

Service heads have demonstrated remarkable energy and tenacity in making their services efficient, cost effective and have risen to the considerable challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic. It's now time to ensure that local authority services in catering, cleaning and FM services, are resilient and in the position to lead the way in providing high quality services to existing and new customers whilst retaining the wider community service

The future challenges lay ahead, from continued budget pressures and wider austerity to climate change. This seminar brings together expert speakers from facilities management, catering and cleaning and the organisations that impact on them to chart the future and case study examples of how local authorities taking a fresh approach and adapting their services to meet future challenges.

Who should attend?

This unique seminar is designed to give service directors, managers, elected members and trade union representatives in the service areas of catering, cleaning, facilities management the opportunity to gain knowledge from experts in the sectors and to discuss strategic and policy issues with colleagues.
