

Scottish Occupational Road Safety Alliance

connected through driving for work in Scotland

Becky Guy

Senior Policy Manager

Delivered by

accidents don't have to happen

Funded by

Practical road-safety support for every employer

ScORSA helps organisations manage occupational road risk, especially SMEs, at no cost.

01

Ready-to-use guidance

Policy templates, practical resources and advice that employers can put to work.

02

Expert information

Evidence and support focused on managing occupational road risk.

03

A connected community

Free access to shared learning, events and good practice.

Work-related journeys are a significant road-safety risk

The official picture understates the scale of work-related road deaths.

15%

of road deaths in 2023 were from driving for work

More than 1 in 5

road deaths in Scotland involve people at work or travelling to work

Including driving and commuting incidents would make reported work-related fatalities nearly 3× higher.

Supports Scotland's Road Safety Framework to 2030 and its vision of zero deaths or serious injuries by 2050.

What does ScORSA do?

ScORSA supports employers through practical resources, opportunities to learn and initiatives that promote safer driving for work

01

Research and guidance

Case studies, information sharing, policy guidance, publications and practical resources

02

Events and learning

Road Safety Hour webinars, in-person events and e-learning

03

Campaigns and engagement

Awareness campaigns, communications activity and member engagement

Impact and evaluation

Independent evaluation found that ScORSA continues to grow, engage members and drive real change

35%

Membership growth

40-60%

Newsletter open rate

25%

Members changed
policy/practice

Members were clear in their feedback: they wanted more of the same.

New local authority e-learning module

Developed specifically to support local authorities to better manage occupational road risk.

Built for local authorities

Designed around the occupational road risk challenges faced by local authority fleets and employees.

Practical risk management

Supports organisations in understanding, identifying and managing driving for work risks.

Available now

A new ScORSA resource that can be integrated into existing training programmes

New local authority e-learning module

Continuing to evolve in response to member needs and emerging road safety challenges.

More learning opportunities

Building on the success of our webinars and events programme.

New resources and tools

Developing practical resources that support organisations to manage occupational road risk.

Member-led development

Shaping future activity based on member feedback and emerging priorities.

Why join ScORSA?

- ✓ Access practical guidance and resources
- ✓ Learn from peers and industry experts
- ✓ Stay informed about emerging road safety issues
- ✓ Help shape the future of driving for work safety in Scotland

Find out more at www.scorsa.org.uk

Thank you for listening

Scan for free information, advice and one-to-one support

Becky Guy

rguy@rospa.com

