Stepping up efforts to combat environmental crimes

Background

- For the 2023/24-year, local authorities in England dealt with 1.15 million fly-tipping incidents, an increase of 6% from the 1.08 million reported in 2022/23.
- Local authorities carried out 528,000 enforcement actions in 2023/24, which was a slight decrease from the 530,000 in 2022/23.
- The number of fixed penalty notices issued was 63,000 in 2023/24, a decrease of 5% from 67,000 in 2022/23. This is the second most common action after investigations and accounted for 12% of all actions in 2023/24.
- The total number of court fines decreased by 8% from 1,491 in 2022/23 to 1,378 in 2023/24, with the combined value of these fines decreasing by 7% from £785,000 to £730,000.

Stepping up efforts to combat environmental crimes

More organised waste crime!

Stepping up efforts to combat environmental crimes

Why?

- More for less?
- Local Authority enforcement resources are now expected to cover a broader range of subject areas?
- More complex investigations for Local Authorities?
- More intelligent/organised criminals?
- Availability of cheaper, easier technology for criminals to access?

Stepping up efforts to combat environmental crimes

What can we do:

- Strengthen Enforcement
- Better Communication/Intelligence Sharing
- Greater Public Awareness and Demand Reduction

Stricter penalties for fly-tipping and littering

In 2023 on-the spot fines for litter, graffiti and fly-tipping rose as part of a crackdown on anti-social behaviour

The maximum amount those caught fly-tipping could be fined increased from £400 to £1,000

The maximum amount those who litter or graffiti could be fined increased from £150 to £500

The maximum amount those who breach their household waste duty of care could be fined increased from £400 to £600

'Tougher' fly-tipping and graffiti fines announced

Maximum fixed penalty notices for fly-tipping will increase from £400 to £1,000

19 March 2025

Two district authorities say they are stepping up efforts to combat fly-tipping and littering with "tougher" fines.

South Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse District Councils said those failing to meet their legal responsibilities for waste disposal would "face significantly higher fines" as part of a national crackdown on anti-social behaviour.

Stricter penalties for fly-tipping and littering

Increased penalties mean environmental crime isn't cheaper than compliance.

But are they causing more work?

Stricter penalties for fly-tipping and littering

What next?

- Court fines and awarded costs need to increase; otherwise, offenders will have a greater incentive to contest the matter in court rather than pay the FPN.
- Courts need to treat fly-tipping as an offence first, rather than focusing primarily on the individual's ability to pay and should make greater use of suspended sentences or custodial sentences for anyone convicted of a second fly-tipping offence.

Enforcement against householders

Legislation:

Under section 34(2A) of the Environmental Protection Act 1990 the occupiers of domestic property disposing of household waste have a duty of care for the disposal of that waste.

You may give the FPN when an individual appears to have failed to comply with their duty of care under section 34(2A) of the Environmental Protection Act 1990 in England. For example:

- where fly-tipped waste can be traced back to an individual who is found to have failed to take reasonable steps to ensure that they transferred the waste to an authorised person
- where an unauthorised carrier is found to be carrying household waste that was directly transferred to them by the occupier of a domestic property
- where an individual is found to have transferred their household waste to an unauthorised person at a site that does not have a permit or exemption

Enforcement against householders

When you should not or cannot issue fixed penalties:

- Proportionate use
- Local authority waste collections
- Tradespersons
- Household waste cleared by landlords
- Investigating the fly-tipper
- Opting for prosecution
